

As a treaty between its first peoples and others, we the people of Australia acknowledge the forced dispossession of aboriginal people from country.

Accordingly, we hereby declare the rent of land and natural resources to be the common wealth of Australia, the source of a universal citizen's dividend, and that arbitrary imposts upon labour, thrift and industry shall be abolished for the welfare of all Australians.

We further declare that the commodification of land and natural resources clearly represents a violation of human rights.

Accepting the earth to be common property, the birthright of all, this treaty is enacted to close the gap between Australia's first peoples and its subsequent inhabitants.
