Economic coercion at the hands of very senior Australian politicians and the Australian Parliament, hellbent on covering up its crimes against the constitutional rights to freedom of everyday Australians at the hands of mining companies, Marxists, Oligarchs (Murdoch family, Gina Rinehart, Anthony Pratt, etc) and global capital markets - my ancestral link to the birth of Indonesia

3 messages

I have begun studying up on my ancestors' connection to Indonesia because of the planned visit by Pope Francis to Indonesia in a few months time (<https://www.vaticannews.va/en/church/news/2024-04/cardinal-ignatius-s-hardjoatmodjo-jakarta-indonesia-interview.html>). It's interesting, to say the least. My ancestors pop up in the most surprising times and places, apparently, joining various dots together in history.

The Indonesian National Awakening (Indonesian: Kebangkitan Nasional Indonesia) is a term for the period in the first half of the 20th century, during which people from many parts of the archipelago of Indonesia first began to develop a national consciousness as "Indonesians". - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Indonesian_National_Awakening

Budi Utomo (Dutch: Boedi Oetomo, meaning "Noble Endeavour") was an early native nationalist political society in the Dutch East Indies. The organization's founding in 1908 is considered instrumental to the beginning of the Indonesian National Awakening.

Budi Utomo is considered the first nationalist society in the Dutch East Indies. The founder of Budi Utomo was Wahidin Soedirohoesodo, a retired government doctor who felt that native intellectuals should improve public welfare through education and culture. The society held its first congress on 20 May 1908, a gathering of students at STOVIA, a medical school in Batavia (present-day Jakarta). - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Budi_Utomo

15 August, 1908: "Mr Robert Crowe, Government Chief Officer of the Export Department, returned to Melbourne on 9th August, from a trip to Java and Singapore, undertaken about 10 weeks ago, for health reasons. Mr Crowe's health has been much improved by the voyage."

==> I wonder if Robert Crowe took the opportunity to pop in to see a doctor at STOVIA whilst he was in Java (for health reasons). And offer the Crowe family's support for the proud birth of Indonesia's 17,000 islands as a unified nation?

This may help to explain my banking job in Amsterdam too.

I believe that this is evidence beyond reasonable doubt that the Australian and British Governments have been engaged in a cover up of my ancestors' achievements, because they (including the Australian Labor Party), have been conspiring against freedom for all Australians. And as part of that, they're using economic coercion, together with national secrecy laws and inappropriately using counter-terrorism laws to strip me of my assets and to block my career path. The question is, is the Biden Administration going to help me? It is not a healthy environment here. I'm surrounded by people who smoke and so I'm enjoying smoking because I've got nothing else to do except study wtf has been going on in Australia over the 20 years I was living in London and travelling. I need a semi-serious operation and I do not trust the Australian Government, for fairly obvious reasons. And I'm alarmed at the drift of Australia to Marxism and to far right wing fascist extremism (a plutocracy, away from the centre and democratic checks and balances) ... to say the least!!! And I'm being blocked from sharing my concerns with Australian voters by national security laws. In the meantime, Marxists in the Australian Labor Party have accelerated an unconstitutional central government attack on freedom for all Australians (our constitutional rights to water). And Joe Biden appears to be mute about it. It is a reason for alarm! It is something that Australians should be debating so they understand the implications of what the Albanese Government is CURRENTLY, quietly doing (buying up water rights, despite a specific constitutional prohibition on the Commonwealth Government from being allowed to do that). And it seems the US Republicans are unable to intervene and comment on our behalf because somehow, oligarchs got in bed with communists, lobbyists (including but not only, CT Group), and the Murdoch family (News Corp) as well as the Australian Broadcasting Commission and the Seven Network (Australia's concentrated news media market) ... and bribed senior Australian and British politicians on both sides of politics, on behalf of US, UK, Australian, Canadian ... etc

I wonder when Parliament will restore freedom for all Australians (our water rights)?

A big call out to Whoopie Goldberg. It is 200 years if you are looking at the timing of the two events happening together at the same time. So, whilst I don't like being a point scorer, your colleague is right. Chirp chirp.

==> Whoopie, I'd appreciate it if US journalists would start to publicly ask the question, how can a supposed liberal democracy like Australia use economic coercion to lock up one of its sons, like me, to block public discussion of a matter that is relevant to all Australians (the freedom from The Crown that our constitutional rights to water gives us) ... noting Henry Kissinger's comment that 'whoever controls the food supply chain, controls the country'). I need to see a doctor and I do not want to have to rely upon a doctor appointed by the Australian Government, nor by the Victorian Government, because I don't trust them for very, very good reasons. For a start, hardcore Marxists don't believe in God (even if they pretend they do).

Also, fyi I'm working on my next submission to the US Securities and Exchange Commission about the way lobbyists and news media organisations are covertly bribing Australian politicians, including with airtime. But in the meantime, as that next submission comes together, I just thought I'd leave you with these observations in the media about the lack of controls in the Australian Parliament over the access lobbyists have to our politicians. It is very frightening, and supports my earlier contention to the US SEC that the Murdoch Family and News Corp are conspiring with their clients and with lobbyists to bribe Australian politicians, including with news media airtime.

If you have access to the famous leaders in the above textbox, would you please forward this email to them? I have an ask, for their help, to end slavery and famine in the world, by creating a supply chain transparency model for cocoa and chocolate, on this Easter Monday.

Delivered on April 3, 1968, the day before his assassination, Martin Luther King Jr.'s "I've Been to the Mountaintop" address was his final public speech. King delivered these remarks in Memphis, Tennessee, in support of Black sanitation workers who were striking over discriminatory and unsafe working conditions.
