

Yoorrook,Justice commission..

In 1963 I was the teacher at Bearii Primary School.

Workmen dug up a skull and bones,The police said "they are aboriginal just re bury them". The Education Department said "keep quiet"

The unused part of the schoolground had long ridges (50 or 60 metres) running roughly north south.

We dug down in a couple of places and found more skeletons and skulls with holes in them.

If all the ridges were burials the site would have contained hundreds of bodies.

I know nothing else and I have never found any mention of this burial site .

Yours Faithfully.,
Ian Gladman.
